Imagine for a moment that you could sail an iceberg, it would be foolish and dangerous to ignore the fact that your ship (iceberg) is melting. Planning for the inevitable move to a new beginning (iceberg) would seem natural. Unfortunately, we all share tendencies that cause us to deny the reality of constant change. Based on a structured 3-stage process developed by William Bridges, Ph.D., this workshop integrates insights that help people find an efficient path through transitions. Planning for change before you are knee deep is a basic skill shared by those we consider to be lucky and successful. This workshop is for anyone who desires to have less stress, greater luck, and spend more time on what they value most.

This presentation was made possible with the assistance of the Greater Grand Forks Convention and Visitors Bureau.
